What the INW is about:

This workshop is designed as a process, with a beginning, middle and end. As a participant your personal objectives will drive your individual workshop experience. You will take an inward-bound journey to the place within you that holds the answers to your life questions. This 'message center' within you will provide the information necessary to accomplish your workshop objectives. As a result it will assist you in designing the next chapter of your life according to what you want, your life goals, wishes and grandest dreams!

Success Stories:

"Today as I sat in my EFT Externship, and reflected on the amazing foundation MMS has provided for my work with individuals and couples. As they speak about the necessity of truly knowing yourself, your triggers, and the importance of knowing how to dissolve your own blocks in order to be of service to your clients, I smile knowing I have had the best training available! This is not something taught in any other training or workshop I have ever taken!"
-Barbara Adamich, MFCC

"Attending the MMS Inner Negotiation Workshop gave me one of the most remarkable weekends I've ever spent. Talk about empowering! I broke through the past so I could confront the future."
-Janice Drickey
